NOW COMES the Plaintiff, Alley Cat Allies Incorporated, by counsel, and respectfully desires to amend its Complaint in accordance with Rule 15(A) of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, pursuant to which this amendment is allowed as a matter of course and no leave of court or opposing party consent is required within 28 days of the filing of a 12(B)(6) motion. Plaintiff states the following for its First Amended Complaint:

PARTIES AND JURISDICTION

1. Plaintiff Alley Cat Allies Incorporated (Alley Cat Allies) is a global nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization based in Maryland and registered as a foreign entity in Ohio whose mission is to transform and develop communities to protect and improve the lives of cats through its key programs: advocacy, humane care, education and outreach, and law and policy change.
2. Alley Cat Allies empowers and mobilizes individuals, advocates, grassroots groups, shelters, veterinary professionals, and elected officials across the United States and around the world to improve their communities for cats through nonlethal, evidence-based approaches.
3. Alley Cat Allies is the leading expert, and a pioneer in the United States, of Trap-Neuter-Return ("TNR"), whereby cats are trapped, spayed or neutered, eartipped, vaccinated and given veterinary care, and returned to the exact outdoor areas where they were trapped, and has decades of experience partnering with localities to implement successful TNR programs.
4. In fact, Alley Cat Allies was formed in 1990 to bring TNR, which was already taking root in the United Kingdom, to the United States. Alley Cat Allies' goal was to upend the relentless, ineffective, and pointless cycle of catching and killing cats in animal shelters that had been standard procedure for decades. Alley Cat Allies launched a national movement with its educational materials, regional workshops, mobilization of grassroots advocates, and re-writing of laws. As a result of this hard work, TNR has become mainstream in the United States and a benchmark of humane care for cats.

5. Alley Cat Allies is a leader in the global movement to protect cats and kittens, with more than 1.4 million supporters across the nation and around the world.

6. Alley Cat Allies' supporters are a discrete group of individuals, worldwide, who share a common interest in supporting the well-being of cats all over the world and donate to Alley Cat Allies because Alley Cat Allies is committed to that mission. That commitment extends to Ohio, where Alley Cat Allies has over 47,000 supporters, and more specifically to Summit County, Ohio, where Alley Cat Allies has over a thousand supporters and has expended money, time, and resources to promote the well-being of cats within and surrounding Summit County, Ohio since at least 2002.

7. Specifically, Alley Cat Allies has expended funds in Summit County, Ohio, met with and advised local advocates, local animal welfare organizations and stakeholders, and plans to continue to expand education and advocacy efforts to defend and improve the lives of cats in Summit County, Ohio.

8. Alley Cat Allies has standing because Summit County's actions have and will, with reasonable certainty, injure and impede its ability to carry out its mission in Summit County, Ohio and has already forced Alley Cat Allies to divert resources to protecting cats who find themselves in Summit County, Ohio.

9. Defendant Summit County Animal Control Department (SCACD) is the Summit County, Ohio dog shelter that houses dogs impounded by a county dog warden organized pursuant to ORC §955.15 and otherwise houses cats pursuant to Defendant Summit County, Ohio's Codified Ordinances.

10. Defendant Summit County, Ohio (Summit County) is a county organized pursuant to Article III of the Ohio Revised Code.

11. Defendant Summit County controls, funds, and otherwise operates SCACD pursuant to ORC §955.15 and its Codified Ordinances.

12. Defendant Christine Fatheree (Fatheree) is the current Director of SCACD and supervisor of Defendant Kristina Petroski.

13. Defendant Kristina Petroski (Petroski) is a current employee of SCACD and performs euthanasias of animals at SCACD.

14. The actions of SCACD, Summit County, Fatheree, and Petroski are often collectively referred to as actions of Summit County in this Complaint, as the shelter itself is likely not a sui juris entity.

15. At all relevant times, Summit County and SCACD acted by and through its agents, servants, and employees, including but not limited to its employees, both named in this action, and unknown employees, not named, but to be discovered.

16. All matters alleged to have occurred, and which are the subject of this Complaint, transpired within Summit County, Ohio.

FACTUAL ASSERTIONS

17. Plaintiff hereby incorporates all of the above paragraphs as if fully rewritten herein.

18. The territorial area of Summit County, Ohio is home to cats, both owned and unowned.

19. Plaintiff Alley Cat Allies has long been concerned about the plight of cats in the SCACD shelter, which, despite being one of the most highly-funded county-operated shelters in Ohio, has traditionally failed to implement basic industry standard shelter management programs to ensure successful outcomes for the cats and dogs in its care, such as a public foster home program for cats or dogs who fail to thrive in a shelter environment.

20. Most county-operated dog warden shelters do not intake cats unless such cats are sick or injured and in need of immediate, compassionate care.

21. Because of SCACD's failure to implement basic industry standard life-saving programs, most cats with behavioral or medical concerns that fall into the custody of SCACD have, statistically speaking, no chance of survival unless such cats are taken into the custody of outside animal rescues or shelters.

22. Defendant Summit County accepts all cats and dogs for a fee of $25.00 and impounds such cats and dogs at SCACD.

23. In addition to accepting owner-surrendered cats and dogs, SCACD has also accepted intake of community cats, who are free-roaming cats who may or may not be feral.

24. A community cat may be cared for by one or more residents of the immediate areas and does not have an owner the way a strictly indoor cat would.

25. Community cats travel outside of traditional human-imposed territorial lines and thus, are not confined by borders.

26. O.R.C. 959.131(A)(1) provides that all cats are companion animals, whether owned or unowned.

27. Because community cats are unowned, they belong to the public trust and are owned in trust for the benefit of the public, including Plaintiff Alley Cat Allies.

28. Defendant Summit County accepts all cats without proof of ownership and with disregard for whether a cat is a community cat.

29. Defendant Summit County kills all cats its staff deems to be “feral.”

30. Such cats deemed “feral” by Defendant Summit County are not given a chance to acclimate, nor are they otherwise evaluated by a professional with animal behavior experience prior to being killed.

31. Such cats deemed “feral” by Defendant Summit County may be killed on the very same day they are brought to SCACD.

32. R.C. 959.131(A)(1) provides that all dogs are companion animals, whether owned or unowned.

33. Because stray dogs and surrendered dogs are either unowned or “owned” by a governmental entity such as Defendant Summit County during and after a stray hold period, they belong to the public trust and are owned in trust for the benefit of the public, including Plaintiff Alley Cat Allies.

34. Per the SCACD euthanasia policy, all euthanasia will be done in accordance with ORC 4729.53.2 and guidelines set forth by the American Humane Association’s “best” and “acceptable” practice standards for euthanasia.

35. ORC 4729.53.2 does not exist and the section that does exist, ORC 4729.53, does not prescribe legal euthanasia of companion animals in Ohio.

36. The euthanasia of companion animals in Ohio is governed by ORC 959.06(A).

37. Training for euthanasia of companion animals in Ohio is based upon the Humane Society of the United States’ euthanasia reference manual (the manual).

38. The American Humane Association has not provided euthanasia training for companion animals in Ohio for over a decade.

39. Defendant Petroski was trained using the manual in April 2023.

40. Defendant Fatheree was trained using the American Humane Association standards in 2006 and has no updated certifications or euthanasia training since this date.

41. Euthanasia in companion animals is typically performed by either intravenous (IV) injection or intraperitoneal (IP) injection.

42. IV injection is the injection of sodium pentobarbital directly into an animal's vein, where the drug is carried by the circulatory system to the heart and then on to the brain. Once the proper quantity is injected, loss of consciousness is nearly instantaneous, and death quickly results.

43. For IV injections of cats and dogs, regardless of the vein used, the manual provides that the standard dosage of sodium pentobarbital in commercial formulations like Fatal-Plus and Pentasol is 1 milliliter for every 10 pounds of body weight.

44. IP injection involves the injection of sodium pentobarbital directly into an animal's abdominal cavity, the space in the abdomen surrounding most of the internal organs. Once the proper quantity is injected, loss of consciousness and death quickly results, but takes a longer time than IV injection, and for this reason, all animals given an IP injection should be immediately placed in a kennel with soft bedding where they can remain undisturbed until they have lost consciousness.

45. For IP injections of cats and dogs, the manual provides that the standard dosage of sodium pentobarbital in commercial formulations like Fatal-Plus and Pentasol is 3 milliliters for every 10 pounds of body weight.

46. The manual provides that both IV and IP euthanasia are recommended only for calm and friendly cats and dogs, as they require handling of the animal to ensure the proper, humane technique is utilized.

47. Ideally, every animal scheduled for euthanasia could be gently restrained for direct IV or IP injection of sodium pentobarbital. However, in reality not every animal can be safely handled with gentle physical restraint, and in some cases animals are so unsocialized or fearful that attempts at physical handling would sharply increase their level of stress. For those animals, the manual provides that pre-euthanasia drugs should be administered to render them unconscious before the lethal injection of sodium pentobarbital.

48. The manual provides that a fractious or fearful animal may be physically restrained for intramuscular injection of a pre-euthanasia drug with a control pole, squeeze cage, restraint gate, feral cat box, or other remote device, injected safely, then released to a quiet, low-stress environment while the drug takes effect. This release period allows the animal to relax, with the sense that the human interaction is over; the next time the animal is touched by human hands, she will be unconscious. Alternatively, some pre-euthanasia drugs can be administered without any contact or handling at all (including anesthetic inhalants, or oral administration of certain drugs). Once the animal has lost consciousness, the technician can safely handle the animal for injection of sodium pentobarbital without causing undue stress or discomfort.

49. The manual provides that effective use of sodium pentobarbital for euthanasia by IV or IP injection typically requires the participation of at least two trained staff members.

50. Per the SCACD euthanasia policy, an incident report must be filled out on the animal that outlines the behavior of the animal.

51. Per the SCACD euthanasia policy, management or “designated individual” will consult with staff and a veterinarian to determine whether an animal should be euthanized.

52. Per the SCACD euthanasia policy, pre-euthanasia anesthesia will be used when safety or technical difficulty makes IV administration impractical.

53. Per the SCACD euthanasia policy, there is no provision for pre-euthanasia anesthesia for IP administration.

54. Per the SCACD euthanasia policy, euthanasia of cats may be performed by one person, while the same is not true for dogs.

55. Per SCACD records and its euthanasia policy, cats are not weighed to determine euthanasia drug dosing, resulting in inconsistent drug dosing for cats.

56. Per SCACD records, only the dosage of euthanasia solution of unknown type and date administered is recorded.

57. On or about August 5, 2024, Defendant Summit County killed a cat identified as cat “A020328.”<sup>1</sup>

58. Cat A020328 was a black, approximately 2 year old allegedly unowned cat of unknown gender surrendered to SCACD on August 1, 2024.

59. Per SCACD’s records, cat A020328 was noted to be “feral – posing threat/danger to staff[,] approach with extreme caution.”

60. On or about August 5, 2024, Defendant Petroski administered a dose of 3cc of euthanasia solution to cat A020328, a dose that should have been sufficient to kill an adult cat by either IV or IP administration if it were administered properly.

84. Per SCACD's records, Lucy was noted to weigh 90 pounds.
